

IMDS Advanced Training

Training Description

The training for advanced users addresses staff already working with the system in need of an update of their knowledge.

After introducing IMDS, we pay attention to the IMDS rules and recommendations in detail. Using your real product data, we instruct you on the compliance with the different OEM acceptance criteria to avoid prospective rejections.

In order to improve data quality and reduce processing time, we will develop validation and data entry strategies together.

tec4U User Trainings

tec4U offers tailor-made IMDS user trainings in respect to your company's individual needs in German or English language. You can choose between in-house trainings at your company or trainings in rooms provided by tec4U.

As an alternative to the conventional face-to-face courses, tec4U provides additional web-based trainings. This allows teaching participants worldwide without time-consuming journeys. The trainings effect by web conference and by phone.

After the workshop, you will receive a certificate verifying your acquired IMDS knowledge. In addition, we provide free of charge support for upcoming questions until six months after the training.
